

Women's Chess Exchange Forum – Pathways to a female future, 15. November 2021

“The Queen’s Gambit”, a boom in online chess and the FIDE declaring 2022 as the “Year of the Women”: it is an exciting time for women in chess! Yet, women are a minority among today’s chess players and increasing female participation has been a slow process. We would like to start an exchange forum across borders to exchange best practice ideas, network and support each other in our effort to increase female participation in chess and to enhance the chess environment to make women excel.

General Information Women’s Chess Exchange Forum

Date	Monday, 15. November 2021
Time	19.30 -20.30 CET
Where	Online Zoom links will be send prior to event to all participants that signed up.
Sign up	Required via email to lhahn@chesssport.eu Please include in your email your full name, your country and your role/interest in women’s chess
Topic	Exchange forum for everyone involved and interested in exchanging ideas on how to increase female participation in chess. We then want to discuss with you what the hurdles are for women to start and stay in chess, and what concepts and ideas you have in your countries to increase female participation. We also want to hear from you, how you think federations like the FIDE Women’s Commission or the ChessSports Association can do to support you and your work and increase women’s chess in Europe.
